OUR STORY

From Venezuela to Australia...

In 2005, we left beautiful Venezuela & arrived in amazing, Australia. It took a few years and our small family sail boat was the place we called home. There were stretches of weeks at a time between destinations, where we wouldn't see any land on the horizon, only the HUGE blue ocean, so you could imagine how amazing it was when we landed on the shores of all the different places.

We met amazing people who showed us their way of life, who taught us their way of preparing food, feeding their families and surviving saw some incredible & remote places accessible only by boat & surfed some epic waves which we had all to ourselves (a bit different to surfing on the Gold Coast). It definitely wasn't always smooth sailing, it was a LOOOOOOOOONG, slow & AMAZING journey, the route was always changing just like the weather, where we had not much but each other, we learnt a lot about a lot, not to mention how to fish & be creative with the limited amount of food we had and it sure was great to finally reach this amazing country, Australia, where life has changed quite a bit!!

So now in Australia we get to share the food we love from Venezuela with you!
